Planning for a New Era:
Real Estate & Facility Planning for the New Workforce

In 2012, Reinsurance Group of America, Inc. (RGA) made a decision to build a new headquarters facility in Chesterfield. A facility unlike anything they had worked in before. As one of the largest global providers of life reinsurance, the majority of their work requires focus and/or privacy. The planners for the new facility were challenged with providing everyone a workspace that meets this need, short of a private office. Changing RGA’s workplace paradigm without respecting their current way of working would fail. So how do you balance the need for focus work areas with the need for connection and innovation and the cost of real estate? Come meet Fox Architects as they explain how they met this challenge.

Speaker Panel
Bob Dunn, LEED BD&C Principal, Fox Architects
Jacob Coburn, AIA, LEED BD&C, Fox Architects
Colleen Crutcher, Senior Designer, Fox Architects

Time
5:00 – 6:00 pm  Networking Reception
6:00 – 7:00 pm  Program
7:00 – 7:30 pm  RGA Facility Tour

Location
RGA Headquarters, 16600 Swingley Ridge Road, Chesterfield, Missouri 63017

Parking Info & Directions
Participants should park on the top parking lot and enter through the revolving doors. Once inside proceed to the Security desk in the lobby. Please bring your driver's license for registration with RGA security. A “Visitor Badge” will be issued to attendees and should be returned at the end of the program.

Hosted by -
Reinsurance Group of America, Incorporated (RGA)

Program Coordinator
Jacqueline Mattingly, Program & Education Committee

Cost
Free to IFMA members or a company representative
$35.00 – Nonmembers
Payment will be accepted at the registration desk or invoicing is available

Respond to - The IFMA Office at (314) 487-7725, or click here to register on-line by Friday, February 13.